

Teaching the use of the library and its tools is an essential service of all libraries and media skills centers.

LOEX

the Library Orientation-Instruction Exchange is the National Clearinghouse
for library instruction

Institutional membership in LOEX enables librarians to eliminate most costly duplication of effort through the sharing of information, experience, and instructional materials. It contains the largest and most comprehensive collection of library instruction data and materials in North America.

As an institutional member of LOEX, you can:

- borrow sample instructional materials from our 37,000 item collection.
- access the data on library instruction activities from 2000+ libraries.
- receive the quarterly issues of our informal newsletter, the LOEX News.
