COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITY OFFICERS.

August 27, 1927.

To the President and Members, Common Council of the City of Indianapolis, Indiana:

Gentlemen—The City Plan Commission hereby recommends to your honorable body that you take favorable action on the accompanying ordinance, which changes a part of the detail plan of General Ordinance No. 9, 1925 (the Thoroughfare Plan).

Respectfully yours,

CITY PLAN COMMISSION,

MACKLIN MACK,

Engineer.

August 25, 1927.

Mr. William Boyce, Jr., City Clerk, Police Headquarters, Indianapolis, Indiana:

Dear Mr. Boyce—Attached herewith is a statement setting forth the position of the Indianapolis Real Estate Board with reference to the new tax rate that is now being considered by the City Council.

Will you be so kind as to see that this statement reaches the members of the Council, and oblige

Yours very truly,

L. H. LEWIS,

President.

"The Indianapolis Real Estate Board, while not posing as an organization of experts in the subject of taxation, feels amply justified in saying that the tax rate fixed by all local taxing units in 1927 should be held down to a reasonable basis. We feel that now is an opportune time to practice the strictest economy in public expenditures. We believe that, after taking all extenuating circumstances into consideration, it would be sound business policy, and in perfect keeping with good business judgment, to have as low a rate as possible, and at the same time still provide funds for public necessities and not impede nor hamper community progress.

"It is true that a high tax rate usually is indicative of community progress. No community can keep pace with progress and not spend money. But it always should be spent wisely and judiciously. It may not be out of line to call attention to the fact that there is a widespread feeling that the present generation has borne more than its legitimate share of the expense of keeping the world safe for democracy. May we be pardoned for suggesting that all public officials spending money should practice strict economy, that double barrel scrutiny should be given by them to all their expenditures, and that only those projects of general good and for the benefit of the public generally should be taken up now.

"The cost of operating our government has increased in recent years by leaps and bounds. It is time to at least have a recess—there can be no harm in taking 'time out' for recapitulation. We realize this is a swiftly moving age in more ways than one, that conditions change almost overnight, but at the same time we feel warranted in saying a short delay in spending big money will work no injury.

"If it is not possible to reduce the present rate of $2.52, keep it as near that figure as possible and you will be performing a real worth-while service."

July 30, 1927.

To the Honorable President and Members of the Common Council of the City of Indianapolis, Indiana:

Gentlemen—Find enclosed fourteen copies of an ordinance defining and regulating the handling and sale of milk, cream and milk products, which is submitted to your honorable body, with the recommendation of the Board of Health and Charities, that said ordinance be passed at your earliest opportunity.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF HEALTH AND CHARITIES,
INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

By CHAS. MENDENHALL,

Their Attorney.

September 3, 1927.

Members of the Common Council, City of Indianapolis, Indiana:

Gentlemen—I herewith hand you fourteen (14) copies of an ordinance appropriating the sum of $36,021.00 out of the Gasoline Tax Fund to defray the expenses of labor and repair for permanent improved streets.

I also enclose a list of streets showing the various amounts needed to repair these streets.

NO. 88, 1927.

To the Council of the City of Indianapolis:

We the undersigned being owners of more than twenty (20%) per cent of the remainder of the blocks in the city of Indianapolis, Indiana, bounded by Fifty-eighth Street on the north, Fifty-sixth Street on the south, and Central Avenue on the east, and Washington Boulevard on the west, within which block lies the property proposed to be zoned for business purposes by General Ordinance No. 88, 1927, now pending in the City Council of Indianapolis, Indiana, amending General Ordinance No. 114, 1922, and amendments thereto, hereby protest against said proposed amendment designating the land described in said ordinance on both sides of Fifty-seventh Street, between Central Avenue and Washington Boulevard, for business purposes.
