Dear Sir:

We are handing you herewith 15 copies (14 for the Council and one for your files) of a draft of a general ordinance which we respectfully request that you present to the Common Council at its meeting this evening. The purpose of the ordinance is to authorize certain transfers and reappropriations of funds of the Board of Sanitary Commissioners; the transfers and reappropriations covered by the first section of the ordinance being necessitated by unexpected changes in conditions of certain of our departments which have required the expenditure of more moneys in certain departments and of less moneys in others, and the purpose of the transfer and reappropriation covered by the second section of the ordinance being to authorize the payment of certain bills contracted in 1928 and not received in time for payment in 1928.

Yours truly,

BOARD OF SANITARY COMMISSIONERS,
(Signed) By O. C. ROSS, President.

August 17, 1929.

OTHER COMMUNICATIONS

August 8th, 1929.

Mr. William A. Boyce, City Clerk, Room No. 14, Police Station, Indianapolis, Indiana:

Dear Sir:

Please find enclosed two letters, one from Joe R. Beckett with reference to airport and the other from Mrs. Lucius B. Swift in answer to the resolution adopted by the Council some few days ago.

Very truly yours,

EDWARD B. RAUB.

Mr. Edward B. Raub, President, City Council:

I am deeply moved by the resolution introduced by Mr. John F. White and adopted by the Indianapolis City Council which you say, "Speaks the feelings of each and every member of the Council."

Especially would my husband care to have said of himself that he "lived serenely in the knowledge that his efforts were for honest and good purposes and that his life perhaps would add to the general well-being of the community."

Sincerely,

MARY ELLA SWIFT.

July 30, 1929.

Honorable Edward Raub, Councilman, City of Indianapolis, City Hall, Indianapolis, Indiana:

Dear Mr. Raub:

There is no group more sincerely interested in the new municipal airport than the members of the Solo Club. There are members in this group who have been actively engaged in flying ever since the World War, and aviation as a vocation, will continue to interest a large percentage of our members. For these reasons the club feels sincerely interested in aiding the city to provide a well advanced plan to take care of aviation development.

We singly and as a group have considered entrance into the port, and feel that the method of reaching the same is one of the primary factors, which will later determine the ports success or failure to a large degree. We wish you to know that we feel the winding, narrow and difficult to follow route, out Kentucky and Oliver avenues would be a distinct disadvantage to the port. Such a route would fail to take into consideration the desirability of making it easy for persons west of the city as well as our own citizens to reach the port. We feel after due consideration that a broad entrance north to the National Road is by far the better method of entrance and the most easily and quickly developed.

There is also no doubt about its being the cheapest broad route to acquire, as only $30,000.00 is needed to provide a 100-foot roadway north to the National Road. The other, or the Kentucky and Oliver avenue route would require broadening and straightening and extensive improvement for one-half of the total distance from the centre of the city to the port, and our citizens are now familiar with the high cost of such improvement.

We therefore respectfully urge that you take immediate steps to acquire the ground necessary for the entrance from the National Road. We are anxious that all reasonable speed be used in the completing of Indianapolis's new aviation centre so that our city will soon be in a fair way to compete with other progressive cities in bringing the new aviation manufacturers here to Indianapolis.

Respectfully,

JOE R. BECKETT,

Chairman Civic Affairs Committee Solo Club.

August 16, 1929.

To the Members of the Common Council, Indianapolis, Ind.:

Gentlemen:

We, the members of the Incorporated Northeast Civic League, will have a committee present at your next meeting.

We have heard nothing of our petition for disannexation, same being filed about three weeks ago.

Our territory is bounded on the north by Sutherland avenue and Millersville road, on the east by Eastern avenue, on the south by 38th street, on the west by Orchard avenue.

We urge that a full report be given at this time.

Respectfully yours,

D. R. CURTIS, Secretary,
3865 North Keystone, Indianapolis, Indiana.
