INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL RESOLUTION

SPECIAL RESOLUTION NO. 8, 1964

Introduced by Councilman Hasbrook.

The Mayor and the Common Council of the City of Indianapolis are deeply concerned about the problems faced by nonwhite citizens of Indianapolis to find adequate housing on a basis commensurate with their means and income and by the same standards upon which white citizens acquire housing for both rent or sale. It is the stated policy and intention of the Mayor and the Common Council of the City of Indianapolis that all citizens of this city be extended full equality of opportunity in the purchase or rental of housing without discrimination based upon creed or color.

In an effort to secure equal opportunities for all citizens to acquire suitable housing the Mayor and the Common Council of the City of Indianapolis call upon all citizens to eliminate color and creed as a basis for judging a prospective renter or purchaser of a home.

Further, we especially call upon all those engaged in the sale, rental, or management of housing not only as individual citizens to eliminate these discriminatory practices from their business transactions but through their business associations to take positive steps in attacking the problem of finding adequate housing for all citizens, race and creed differences notwithstanding.

We also call upon banking, home mortgage, building and loan, and other home-financing institutions to develop a uniform set of qualifications and standards, which apply to all buyers of real estate who seek home financing, that take no cognizance of race or creed differences. Further we ask that these institutions, likewise acting in joint association, aggressively attack the problem of assisting nonwhite citizens in finding adequate home financing.

We further request that the newspapers of this community exercise leadership in the solution of this problem by the elimination of discriminatory advertising from their pages. In addition, that these papers actively support efforts to obtain housing for all citizens on their news and editorial pages including pointing out examples of progress as well as injustices which may occur.

It is the desire of the Mayor and the Common Council of the City of Indianapolis that reports on the progress being made by each of these groups be reported at least annually citing what progress has been made by the Real Estate industry, financial institutions, and newspapers. These reports to be made to the Housing Committee of the Human Rights Commission and that the Housing Committee of the Human Rights Commission contact all such institutions, agencies, and business firms seeking their co-operation and assistance and making reports on progress or lack of same to the Mayor and the Common Council on July 1 of each year.

The Common Council of the City of Indianapolis charges itself with the responsibility of examining the housing situation within the City annually during the month of July and holding a public hearing annually to discover what progress has been made, what problems continue to exist, and what further action may be needed.

It is the hope of the Mayor and of the Common Council that significant progress in finding suitable housing for all citizens can be achieved annually through the understanding, co-operation, and help of all the citizens of this community without resorting to mandatory legislation which compels that which should come about by the practice of American principles of justice and equality.

This Ordinance was not assigned to a Committee.
