COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR

May 8, 1947.

To the Honorable President and Members of the Common Council of the City of Indianapolis.

Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith Special Ordinance No. 10, 1947 without my signature for the following reasons:

This Ordinance attempts to say what type of gas is to be furnished to the people of Indianapolis. The statute creating the utility district for the City of Indianapolis placed the exclusive Government, management, regulation and control of the Gas Company in the Board of Directors for Utilities. This Board is composed of fine public-spirited citizens who, in my opinion, are not only charged with the responsibility of furnishing an adequate supply of gas for the City of Indianapolis, but who are capable of so doing.

In vetoing this Ordinance, I am not attempting to decide what authority, if any, the City Council may have to determine the quality of gas which the Citizens Coke and Gas Company may provide for its users, but it is my personal opinion that this Ordinance is an attempt to usurp the power and to assume the responsibilities which I believe are vested in the Board of Directors for Utilities.

It was the purpose of the authors of the bill creating the utility district to place the exclusive management and control of the Gas Company in the hands of the Board of Directors and to protect this utility from interference by the Mayor or City Council in its management and operation. I do not presume to place my judgment in the matter of the type of gas to be furnished the citizens of Indianapolis ahead of the Board of Directors and Managers of the Gas Company who are in close contact and are thoroughly familiar with these problems.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT H. TYNDALL,
Mayor

May 8, 1947.
