

Autopsy

Nathan Marquam

I've searched for something good in you,
like apple carved down to the bone.
Found tire swings and skipping stones.
I've searched for something good in you,
found worm-gut nails and walls punched through,
the strongest hands I've ever known—
I've searched for something good in you,
like apple carved down to the bone.