The Indiana International & Comparative Law Review, published by the Indiana University School of Law—Indianapolis since 1991, is a student-edited law journal that provides a forum for the discussion and analysis of contemporary issues in international and comparative law. The Review publishes articles by prominent legal scholars, practitioners, and policy makers from around the world, as well as student-written notes and comments.

The Review is published twice annually, with a periodic third issue devoted to a specific topic in international or comparative law. In 1994, in conjunction with the Italian Academy for Advanced Studies in America at Columbia University, the Review published a special issue on the political and social aspects of Italian law, and in 1996 the Review will publish an issue addressing aspects of Chinese law.

Enrich your knowledge of the world around you, and help support the study of international law at Indiana University, with a subscription to the Indiana International & Comparative Law Review. Subscriptions are $18.00 per year within the U.S./$21.00 per year outside the U.S. (please make your check payable to Indiana International & Comparative Law Review).

Apology

In Issue Four of Volume 29 of the Indiana Law Review, an article appeared entitled, 1995 Survey of Indiana Commercial Code. This article was based on a draft manuscript solicited from Professor Bruce A. Markell of the Indiana University School of Law—Bloomington. After Professor Markell withdrew the article, a misunderstanding within the editorial staff of Volume 29 of the Review caused the article to be published with numerous changes not approved by Professor Markell, and attributed to Diane Rae Hurtt. Ms. Hurtt does not claim the article as her own. The Indiana Law Review, however, wishes to set the record straight, and apologizes to its readers and to Professor Markell for the incident and the inaccuracy.

Should readers wish to refer to the article in the future, the accurate citation would be: Comment, 1995 Survey of Indiana Commercial Code, 29 IND. L. REV. 1127 (1996).
