

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Mary Adler is an Assistant Professor of English at California State University, Channel Islands. She specializes in writing development and processes, classroom discourse studies, and literacy practices. She is the author (with Eija Rougle) of Building Literacy through Classroom Discussion (Scholastic Press, 2005).

Sarah Sutton began her career in librarianship at Texas A&M University – Corpus Christi in 2001. She has served as Serials Librarian and is currently Serials and Electronic Resources Librarian. Sarah is the recipient of the 2003 North American Serials Interest Group’s Horizon Award for “promising new serialists.” She holds a bachelors degree from Washington University in St. Louis and a Master of Library Science degree from Texas Woman’s University and is currently working on a Ph.D. in Library Science from Texas Woman’s University.

Denise Landry-Hyde has been a professional librarian since 1982. She began her professional life as a teacher in K-12 and has worked as a librarian primarily in university/research libraries. She currently serves as Reference/Distributed Learning Librarian at Bell Library, Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi, where she has worked since 1993.

Carmen Manning is Assistant Professor of English Education at the University of Wisconsin-EauClaire. Her research focuses on writing pedagogy and assessment and on the teacher reflective practice. Heather Hanewall is a senior at the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire. She is a double major in English and Spanish teaching.

David L. Wheat earned his M.A. from Truman State University. His thesis work is entitled Decoding Contemporary Theories of Militarism through Science Fiction. He holds a B.S. in Microbiology from Idaho State University and is currently attending law school at the University of Alabama-Tuscaloosa.

Lee Zacharias is professor of English at the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, where she has won the College, the University of North Carolina Board of Governors, and the Southeast Association of Departments of English awards for teaching excellence. She is the author of Helping Muriel Make It Through the Night (stories) and the novel Lessons. Recent work, fiction and nonfiction, has appeared in Shenandoah, Southern Humanities Review, The Gettysburg Review, Southern Review, Crab Orchard Review, Michigan Quarterly Review, and in other journals.

MEMBERSHIP AND SUBSCRIPTION INFORMATION

The Journal of Teaching Writing is published by the Indiana Teachers of Writing, a nonprofit organization of teachers, professors, and editors interested in the encouragement of studies in the teaching of writing. Membership in the ITW includes a journal subscription for two issues and is $20.00 per year.

Nonmember subscriptions to the Journal of Teaching Writing are $20.00 per year; institutional subscriptions are $25.00 per year. A $5.00 handling charge is added to subscriptions outside the continental United States.

Send inquiries to:

Journal of Teaching Writing
Indiana University Purdue University Indianapolis
425 University Boulevard, CA 243B
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202
<jtw@iupui.edu>
<<http://www.iupui.edu/~jtw>>
Phone: 317.274.4777
Fax: 317.278.1287